NEW YORK STATE.

A Desperate Encounter With Robbers.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26. Four burglars entered the house of Mr. Eagle, Fairview, N. J. Saturday night, chloroformed the watch dogs, entered the room where old Mr Eagle and wife were sleeping, woke the old man at once, both in the bed with the burglars at pistols, handling the old man roughly, gagged him and tied his hands and feet. One of the robbers with a revolver stood over the old but senseless couple, while the other three ransacked the closets, etc. But the guard soon called to reinforcements and aided the other robbers in the search for money and other valuables. An old man named Earl, chief mourner of the place, and two children slept on the same floor and the burglars bound Earl and threatened his life, bound the old lady child and took the youngest to the room of one of the robbers. Mrs. Eagle, a nephew of the elder man, and his wife slept on a lower floor. The nephew grasped his revolver, and drew back the bolt of his room door. When the robbers came to the door, their dark lantern was extinguished, and all kept silent so as to escape notice of the robbers. In a few minutes young Mr Eagle fired in from the fire of the robbers, and succeeded. A fusillade of shots ensued, one of the robbers exclaiming: "My God! I am shot," when they smashed a window and all took their own wounded; that of the robber, young Mr. Eagle following with four shot till his revolvers were emptied. The neighbors were alarmed, but the coast was cleared. A well known thief was arrested here last night in New York wounded, who is believed to be the robber shot.
